“How Can I Help You?”

I am a shoring designer at SPI Consulting Engineers, Inc. I graduated from Cal Poly, SLO in 2011 with a bachelor's degree in civil engineering and joined the SPI team immediately. I enjoy communicating with clients and getting their feedback, so I can improve on every future project. For me, seeing the design process from paper to reality is most exciting.

I was born in Hong Kong, and I speak fluent Chinese, as well as English. Language is not a barrier, and I would love to explain our design to you using my bilingual skills. I do not believe engineers are nerds because my boss and my co-workers are skiers and cyclists. Me? I like making friends in different industries.
